

Voting While Transgender

Adapted from Nat'l Ctr. for Transgender Equal., Voting While Trans, (2018).

Voting is a key part of our participation in society. Our vote is how our voices are heard on the issues that affect us, and we have the right to vote regardless of gender identity. Having ID that doesn't match your gender identity or presentation should not affect your right to cast a ballot. Unfortunately, trans people face barriers when trying to cast their ballots – both because of difficulties in obtaining an ID that's accepted, and because of bias or misunderstandings of the law when it comes to their gender.

INFORMATION FOR POLL WORKERS AND ELECTION OFFICIALS

The voter you are talking to is transgender, meaning that their gender identity is different than the gender that was recorded on their birth certificate. Transgender people may not have been able to update their IDs to reflect their identity for a number of reasons. This is not illegal. As long as the relevant voter data (name and address) matches one of the acceptable forms of ID, the voter has the right to vote. Please do not be distracted by gender presentation when you are evaluating a voter's identity and eligibility to vote.

Here is some additional information that might be useful to you:

- Gender discrepancies on ID are not a valid reason to deny a regular ballot. Transgender voters may have ID that indicates a different gender than what they look like. They may not have had an opportunity to update their ID yet, or may not be able to do so at this time (due to COVID, due to loss of employment, etc.) This does not mean their ID is invalid or fraudulent for voting.
- Different clothing, makeup or hairstyle on an ID photo is not a valid reason to deny a regular ballot. Voters may look different today than on their photo ID for many reasons. The photo on their ID may show a different gender presentation. As long as you can identify the voter from their picture, the ID is valid for voting.
- A voter's transgender status and medical history is private. Although you may be curious or confused by a voter's appearance, asking personal questions is offensive, inappropriate, and not relevant to their right to vote.
- Transgender voters are not doing anything wrong or trying to deceive you - they are just being themselves. Transgender people have the right to vote just like everyone else, and it is your responsibility to ensure they are able to do so without hassle. If confusion about this person's right to vote persists, please speak to an election supervisor or election judge in your area to resolve any remaining questions.
